

IN BREVE: Nel mese di settembre, COMERIO ERCOLE ha vissuto un periodo di massima intensità produttiva e promozionale. Abbiamo infatti partecipato con successo a RubberTech China 2024, dove abbiamo presentato le nostre innovazioni e attratto numerosi visitatori, tra cui clienti storici e nuovi potenziali partner. Successivamente, abbiamo partecipato a CINTe Tectextil 2024 a Shanghai, evidenziando le nostre tecnologie avanzate per i tessuti tecnici e non tessuti, con un forte focus sulla sostenibilità. Inoltre, siamo stati orgogliosi di ricevere il riconoscimento ufficiale come Marchio Storico, un titolo che sottolinea la nostra tradizione e responsabilità nel settore.

COMERIO ERCOLE successfully participated in the latest edition of RubberTech China 2024, one of the world's most important trade fairs for the rubber industry, held in Shanghai. This year's event was particularly intense, attracting numerous visitors and industry professionals from around the globe. Our stand became a focal point for many customers, both new and returning, who took the opportunity to explore our exhibition, learn about our latest innovations, and discuss the challenges and opportunities within the sector. Once again, COMERIO ERCOLE confirmed its position as a market leader, capturing attention with innovative and high-tech solutions for the rubber industry. Our calendaring technologies, advanced automation systems, and sustainability-focused solutions garnered significant interest, demonstrating that innovation and sustainability can go hand in hand in addressing future challenges. One of the most gratifying aspects of our participation in RubberTech was the large influx of returning clients who honored us with their visits. Many emphasized the importance of long-term collaboration, recalling how we have developed tailored solutions over the years to meet their needs. This fills us with pride, proving that the trust built over time and the excellence of our products continue to make a difference. At the same time, the interest from new clients has paved the way for potential future collaborations. The companies that visited us were fascinated by our ability to innovate in rubber processing technologies, and we had the opportunity to initiate promising discussions that could lead to strategic partnerships in various global markets. We thank all the visitors who chose to stop by our stand, and we look forward to seeing you next time!

What was never considered possible is now possible!

COMERIO ERCOLE enthusiastically participated in CINTe Tectextil 2024, the world-leading trade fair for technical textiles and nonwovens, held in Shanghai. This event provided an important opportunity to showcase our latest innovations and solutions in the sector, attracting a broad audience of professionals and companies from around the globe. During the fair, our stand captured the attention of numerous visitors, both new and established partners. We presented our cutting-edge technologies for processing technical textiles and nonwovens, emphasizing our commitment to sustainability and production efficiency. Our innovative solutions, capable of combining high performance with reduced environmental impact, were met with great interest, demonstrating that the pursuit of innovation can go hand in hand with social and environmental responsibility. Participating in Tectextil also represented an important networking opportunity. We initiated promising conversations with new companies interested in our technologies, paving the way for potential future collaborations. A particularly significant moment this month was also receiving recognition as a "Historic Brand" from the Italian Patent and Trademark Office. This prestigious title, highlights the value and tradition of COMERIO ERCOLE in the Italian industrial landscape. COMERIO ERCOLE continues to look to the future with determination, its tradition of excellence and innovation. The CINTe Tectextil fair reaffirmed our leadership position in the industry, while the recognition of the "Historic Brand" inspires us to continue investing in research and development, aiming to provide increasingly advanced and sustainable solutions to our customers. We thank everyone who visited us and shared their experiences at our stand. We look forward to seeing you at the next edition!

